

Emily Johnson

January 16, 2026

Acme Corporation

RE: Career Change Botanist

Dear Hiring Manager,

I am writing to express my enthusiasm for the Career Change Botanist position at Acme Corporation, which I discovered on your careers page. With a strong passion for plant sciences and a diverse background in environmental research, I am excited about the opportunity to contribute to your innovative team and play a role in advancing sustainability through botany.

In my previous role as a research analyst at Green Future Solutions, I led a project focused on the restoration of native plant species in urban areas, collaborating with local governments and community groups to promote biodiversity. This initiative not only increased native plant coverage by 30% in targeted regions but also fostered strong community engagement, resulting in over 500 volunteer hours dedicated to planting and maintaining green spaces. My ability to analyze ecological data and translate findings into actionable strategies was key to the project's success, and I am eager to apply these skills to the botanist role at Acme Corporation.

Additionally, during my time pursuing a Master's degree in Botany, I developed a comprehensive study on the effects of climate change on local flora, which was published in a peer-reviewed journal. This research honed my skills in scientific writing and data analysis, and I am proud that my findings have been utilized by local conservation groups to inform their strategies. I believe this experience, combined with my background in multidisciplinary collaboration, positions me well to contribute to Acme Corporation's goals in plant conservation and innovation.

I am very interested in the opportunity to further discuss how my unique background and skills align with the needs of your team. Thank you for considering my application; I look forward to the possibility of contributing to Acme Corporation's mission in the field of botany.

Sincerely,

Emily Johnson