RE: Entry Level Interaction Designer

Dear Hiring Manager,

I am excited to apply for the Entry Level Interaction Designer position at Acme Corporation, which I discovered on your careers page. With a strong background in user experience design and a passion for creating intuitive interfaces, I am eager to contribute my skills to your innovative team.

During my senior year at State University, I led a project that focused on redesigning an existing mobile application for a local non-profit organization. By conducting user research and usability testing, I was able to identify pain points that users encountered. As a result, I implemented a streamlined navigation system that improved user engagement by 40% over a three-month period. Additionally, I collaborated with a team of designers and developers on a capstone project where we created a prototype for a web-based tool aimed at enhancing productivity for remote teams. This project not only honed my design skills but also taught me the importance of iterative design and feedback.

I am particularly impressed by Acme Corporation's commitment to user-centered design and your innovative approach to interaction design. I am eager to bring my creativity and analytical skills to your team, and I believe that my background in UX research and design principles aligns well with the goals of your organization. I am looking forward to the opportunity to discuss how I can contribute to your projects and help elevate user experiences at Acme Corporation. Thank you for considering my application.

Sincerely,

Jordan Taylor
