RE: Entry Level Zoologist

Dear Hiring Manager,

I am writing to express my excitement about the Entry Level Zoologist position at Acme Corporation, which I discovered on your careers page. With a strong academic background in zoology and hands-on experience in wildlife rehabilitation, I am eager to contribute my passion for animal biology and conservation to your esteemed organization.

During my internship at the Greenfield Wildlife Sanctuary, I successfully assisted in the rehabilitation of over 50 injured birds, helping to restore them to their natural habitats. By meticulously monitoring their recovery and implementing a tailored feeding plan, I was able to enhance their chances of survival and ultimately release them successfully. This experience not only honed my animal care skills but also deepened my understanding of the ecological challenges faced by local wildlife.

In addition to my practical experience, my senior research project at the university focused on the behavioral patterns of urban foxes. I collected data on their feeding habits and interactions with humans, presenting my findings at the National Zoology Conference. This project was recognized for its contribution to understanding human-wildlife interactions and has sparked my interest in urban wildlife conservation. I believe that my research experience, combined with my hands-on skills, makes me a valuable asset for your team.

I am enthusiastic about the opportunity to bring my background in zoology and my commitment to animal welfare to Acme Corporation. I would greatly appreciate the chance to discuss how I can contribute to your important work further. Thank you for considering my application.

Sincerely,

Jordan A. Smith
