

Dr. Emily Chen

January 16, 2026

Acme Corporation

RE: Freelance To Full Time Epidemiologist

Dear Hiring Manager,

I am excited to apply for the Freelance To Full Time Epidemiologist position at Acme Corporation, which I discovered on LinkedIn. With a strong background in epidemiological research and a passion for public health, I am eager to contribute to your team and support your mission of improving community health outcomes through data-driven strategies.

During my freelance work over the past three years, I successfully managed several epidemiological studies that required both independent and collaborative efforts. One notable project involved leading a research initiative on the spread of influenza in underserved populations, which resulted in a comprehensive report that informed local health policies and increased vaccination rates by 30%. Additionally, I collaborated with a public health agency to develop a predictive model for COVID-19 transmission in urban areas, which provided critical insights for resource allocation and intervention strategies during the pandemic.

I am particularly impressed by Acme Corporation's commitment to innovative health solutions and community engagement. I believe my expertise in statistical analysis and proficiency with software tools such as R and SAS would be valuable assets in your ongoing projects. I am eager to bring my skills in epidemiological modeling and data visualization to your team, further enhancing your research efforts.

I would love the opportunity to discuss how my background, skills, and enthusiasms align with the goals of Acme Corporation. Thank you for considering my application. I look forward to the possibility of contributing to your impactful work in public health.

Sincerely,

Dr. Emily Chen