

Jordan Lee Anderson

January 16, 2026

Acme Corporation

RE: Freelance To Full Time Medical Technologist

Dear Hiring Manager,

I am excited to apply for the Freelance To Full Time Medical Technologist position at Acme Corporation, which I discovered on your careers page. With a robust background in clinical laboratory science and extensive freelance experience, I am eager to contribute my expertise to your esteemed organization and support your commitment to high-quality patient care.

Over the past three years as a freelance medical technologist, I have honed my skills in various laboratory settings, performing a wide array of tests including hematology, microbiology, and clinical chemistry. One of my key achievements was developing a streamlined process for sample analysis that reduced turn-around time by 25%, enabling healthcare providers to make quicker, informed decisions for their patients. Additionally, I played a crucial role in a collaborative project where I implemented a new electronic health record (EHR) system that improved interdepartmental communication and patient data accessibility, enhancing overall workflow efficiency.

I am particularly drawn to the opportunity at Acme Corporation due to its reputation for innovation and excellence in laboratory services. I am enthusiastic about the possibility of bringing my freelance experience and technical expertise into a full-time position where I can contribute to ongoing projects and collaborate with a dedicated team. I would love the opportunity to discuss how my background, skills, and ambitions align with the goals of Acme Corporation. Thank you for considering my application.

Sincerely,

Jordan Lee Anderson