

Jordan Smith

January 16, 2026

Acme Corporation

RE: Freelance To Full Time Test Engineer

Dear Hiring Manager,

I am excited to apply for the Freelance To Full Time Test Engineer position at Acme Corporation, which I discovered on your careers page. With a robust background in software testing and quality assurance, I am eager to contribute to your team's commitment to delivering exceptional products. I have always admired Acme Corporation's innovative approach and dedication to quality, making this opportunity particularly appealing to me.

During my time as a freelance test engineer, I successfully led a project for a leading e-commerce platform, where I implemented automated testing frameworks that reduced the testing cycle time by 40%. This not only expedited the release process but also significantly decreased the number of post-launch defects, enhancing overall user satisfaction. Additionally, I collaborated closely with developers to establish best practices for code reviews and testing protocols, which ultimately improved our team's efficiency and output quality.

Moreover, I played a pivotal role in a project for a mobile application startup, where my thorough regression testing procedures uncovered critical usability issues that, once resolved, improved the app's rating from 3.5 to 4.8 on major app stores. This achievement not only validated our team's efforts but also underscored my commitment to delivering high-quality software solutions.

I am genuinely interested in the possibility of discussing how my skills and experiences align with the needs of Acme Corporation. Thank you for considering my application. I look forward to the opportunity to further discuss how I can contribute to your team's success.

Sincerely,

Jordan Smith