

Jordan A. Smith

January 16, 2026

Acme Corporation

RE: Instructional Designer

Dear Hiring Manager,

I am thrilled to apply for the Instructional Designer position at Acme Corporation, as advertised on your careers page. With a strong background in developing engaging educational materials and a passion for enhancing learner outcomes, I am eager to contribute my skills to your innovative team. Acme's commitment to transforming learning experiences aligns perfectly with my professional aspirations and values.

In my previous role at Tech Solutions Inc., I successfully redesigned a two-week onboarding training program that improved new employee retention rates by 30%. By implementing a blended learning approach that integrated e-learning modules with hands-on workshops, I created an interactive environment that enhanced knowledge retention and engagement. Additionally, I collaborated with subject matter experts to develop an interactive e-learning module on compliance training that increased assessment pass rates by 25% within the first month of launch. This experience honed my ability to leverage technology to create impactful learning experiences tailored to diverse audiences.

I am particularly drawn to the opportunity at Acme Corporation because of your focus on adaptive learning technologies, and I am excited about the potential to design scalable learning solutions that meet the needs of your clients. I am confident that my understanding of instructional design principles, coupled with my passion for continuous improvement, will enable me to make a significant contribution to your team.

I would welcome the opportunity to discuss how my background, skills, and enthusiasms align with the goals of Acme Corporation. Thank you for considering my application. I look forward to the possibility of discussing my candidacy further.

Sincerely,

Jordan A. Smith