RE: Internship Epidemiologist

Dear Hiring Manager,

I am writing to express my enthusiasm for the Internship Epidemiologist position at Acme Corporation, as advertised on your careers page. With a strong academic background in public health and a deep passion for epidemiology, I am excited about the opportunity to contribute to your team's efforts in advancing public health initiatives.

During my recent internship at the Center for Disease Control and Prevention, I successfully assisted in a project analyzing the spread of respiratory infections in urban populations. This experience allowed me to hone my data collection and statistical analysis skills, where I utilized R and Python to interpret complex datasets. Additionally, I collaborated with a team to develop a comprehensive report that contributed to policy recommendations for local health departments, demonstrating my ability to translate data into actionable insights.

Furthermore, as a volunteer with the Public Health Student Association, I led a research initiative that surveyed community awareness of vaccination programs. By designing and distributing a questionnaire to over 300 participants, I gathered valuable data that revealed significant gaps in public knowledge. This project not only reinforced my research skills but also emphasized the importance of community outreach in epidemiology.

I am excited about the possibility of joining Acme Corporation and contributing to your impactful work in disease prevention and health promotion. I look forward to the opportunity to discuss my qualifications further and explore how I can support your team. Thank you for considering my application.

Sincerely,

Jordan A. Smith
