

Jordan Taylor

January 16, 2026

Acme Corporation

RE: No Experience Speech Language Pathologist

Dear Hiring Manager,

Dear Hiring Manager,

I am writing to express my enthusiasm for the No Experience Speech Language Pathologist position at Acme Corporation, as advertised on your careers page. I am eager to begin my professional journey in speech-language pathology and am excited about the opportunity to contribute to your team, known for its commitment to enhancing communication abilities in individuals of all ages.

During my graduate studies at the University of California, I completed a rigorous coursework program that included extensive training in speech and language assessment techniques. My capstone project involved working with a local elementary school, where I collaborated with teachers to develop an engaging speech therapy plan for students facing articulation challenges. This experience not only honed my ability to create tailored therapy goals but also reinforced the importance of teamwork in achieving successful outcomes. Additionally, I volunteered at a community center, where I assisted a licensed speech-language pathologist in conducting therapy sessions for adults with aphasia. This hands-on involvement allowed me to gain practical skills in implementing evidence-based therapy strategies and deepen my understanding of patient-centered care.

I am eager to bring my academic knowledge and volunteer experience to Acme Corporation, where I believe I can contribute positively to the lives of your clients. I am particularly drawn to your holistic approach to speech therapy, which aligns with my training and values. I would be grateful for the opportunity to discuss how my background, enthusiasm, and commitment to professional growth can be an asset to your esteemed team. Thank you for considering my application; I look forward to the possibility of speaking with you further about this exciting opportunity.

Sincerely,

Jordan Taylor