

Jordan Michaels

January 16, 2026

Acme Corporation

RE: Relocation Ux Writer

Dear Hiring Manager,

I am excited to apply for the Relocation UX Writer position at Acme Corporation, as advertised on LinkedIn. With a strong background in crafting user-centered content and a deep understanding of the relocation process, I am eager to contribute to your team and enhance the user experience for clients navigating this transition.

In my previous role at Global Moves, I led a project that revamped our relocation guide, which resulted in a 30% increase in user engagement. By conducting user research and testing, I identified pain points in the existing content and collaborated with designers to create a more intuitive structure. The updated guide not only improved customer satisfaction scores but also reduced support inquiries by 25%, allowing our team to focus on more complex customer needs. Furthermore, I implemented a content strategy that streamlined communication across various channels, ensuring consistency and clarity for users throughout their relocation journey.

I am particularly drawn to Acme Corporation's commitment to innovation and excellence in customer experience. I would love the opportunity to discuss how my expertise in UX writing and content strategy can contribute to your mission of delivering seamless relocation solutions. Thank you for considering my application; I look forward to the possibility of discussing this position further.

Sincerely,

Jordan Michaels